Bhartiya Gramotthan Sanstha is a Non Government Organization, founded by Uttarakhand Rajya Shilp Ratna Awardee Late Shri Prakash Mohan Chandola in 1989. It is a registered society under Indian Societies Registration Act 1860 and operating from Rishikesh, Uttarakhand, India

BGS is a voluntary organization working for poverty alleviation and empowerment of underprivileged families by enriching their lives. We do this through well planned and comprehensive projects in livelihoods, education, health and environment conservation.

The area of operation covers entire Uttarakhand and Uttar Pradesh and focused operational area is Garhwal region of Uttarakhand.

At the grass root level BGS, closely works with women centric community institution (Self Help Groups) and their federation. The ultimate goal is empowerment of poor & underprivileged women through improvement in their best livelihoods.

VISION OF THE ORGANISATION:

Overall development of the community of Garhwal hills in the issue of their health, education, habitat and livelihood for the betterment of their lifestyle.

MISSION OF THE ORGANISATION:

1. To reduce poverty of underprivileged families by enabling them to access the sustainable self-employment in handicraft and handloom sector through a process of social mobilization, capacity building and financial inclusion.
2. To provide quality of life to underprivileged families through enhanced education, health & hygiene and income generation under various government and non government programs with special focus on Women Empowerment.
3. Self-sustainable development of handicrafts through community improvement.
4. Integrated development of the community through women and child development.
5. Implementation of the programme for the overall socio-economic development of weaker section.

Our History:

Bhartiya Gramothan Sanstha (BGS) was founded in 1989 by Uttarakhand Rajya Shilp Ratna Awardee Late. Shri Prakash Mohan Chandola, who was founder president of BGS; with the aim of addressing poverty and providing quality of life to underprivileged families. Women empowerment is main focus of the organization. BGS has a democratic structure where the governing body is the main decision-making bodies. Currently organization is working in livelihood, health education and environment conservation.

BGS has strategic commitments and working with existing national organization such as NABARD, Development Commissioner (Handicraft), National Jute Board, Women & Child Department Govt. of Uttarakhand, UHHDC, Govt. of Uttarakhand and other reputed national and international organization as project implementation partner and has developed association with various relevant departments of government of India and government of Uttarakhand including department of Industries, Rural Development, Women and Child Welfare.

In 1989, organization started its operation from Dandi village Dist-Dehradun of Uttarakhand with two manual handloom weaving machines and in 1992-1993 expanded its activity at larger scale with support of office of Development Commissioner (Handicrafts), Ministry of Textiles. Since then organization is growing at constant pace.

Since 1993-1994, Organization is actively associated with NABARD for implementation of its sustainable livelihood development projects in farm and non-farm sector through formation of Self Help Groups & their federations.

So far BGS has completed more than 50 projects in livelihood, health, education and environment conversation supported by various government departments, national organizations and reputed non-government organizations.

Presently BGS is supporting more than 1500 self-employed handicraft & handloom artisans in their livelihood development and known for production of excellent traditional and innovative natural fiber handicraft products.

A highlight on various projects and programs being run by the organization are as follows:

1) COMMON FACILITY CENTRE (C.F.C)
